THE LAMP AT SEA.

BY LONGFELLOW.

The night was made for cooling shade,
For silence and for sleep;
And when I was a child I laid
My hands upon my breast and prayed,
And sank to slumbers deep.
Child-like as then, I lie to-night
And watch my lonely cabin light.

Each movement of the swaying lamp
Shows how the vessel reels;
And o'er her deck the billows tramp,
And all her timbers strain and cramp,
With every shock she feels:
It starts and shudders while it burns,
And in its hinged sockets turns.

Now swinging slow, and slanting low,
It almost level lies,
And yet I know, while to and fro
I watch the seeming pendule go,
With restless fall and rise,
The steady shaft is still upright,
Poising its little globe of light.

O, hand of God! O, lamp of peace!
O, promise of my soul!
Though weak and tossed, and ill at ease,
Amid the roar of smiting seas—
The ship's convulsive roll—
I own, with love and tender awe,
You perfect type of faith and law!

A heavenly trust my spirit calms!
My soul is filled with light!
The ocean sings His solemn psalms;
The wild winds chant; I cross my palms;
Happy, as if to-night,
Under the cottage roof again,
I heard the soothing summer rain.

Select Miscellany.

A MODERN VENDETTA.

Within the last six months, a tale has come to the ears of the authorities of Cadiz, which, if true, is replete with all the horrors of "The Three Spaniards," and proves conclusively that what is sometimes considered an evil passion is often in reality, a second nature. "The Vendetta, or Revenge to the Death," is a peculiarly Corsican phrase. It is the war which frequently rages between two or even a larger number of families, often growing out of distorted notions of honor, and sometimes the revival of old family feuds, which for a time have been extinguished by the almost total extermination of the one, or even both factions, and which, after slumbering perhaps for a century, breaks out with redoubled fury and unrelaxing intensity. It is the same Vendetta which between the years 1356 and 1729, caused 666,000 Corsicans to fall by the assassin's hand; and of these, a moiety absolutely slain—the whole number being twice that of the present inhabitants, which is computed at about 25,000. These statistics, which are well vouched for by Filippini and other Corsican historians, are only given that some idea may be formed of what the Vendetta really is in its primal birth-place.

In the year 1832, in the city of Cadiz, a Corsican goatherd who fled his country, (a charge of insurrectionary and seditious cabal having been lodged in the Prefecture against him) kept a little shop from which he peddled the cheapest kind of lace and ladies' trinkets. Giacomo was poor, but it seems, from what little was known of him, strictly honest. He had a son, then some ten years of age, who tended the store, while his father hawked his wares about the city streets.

Matters seem to have gone on swimmingly, when rumor intimated that Giacomo—who, it may be added, was still young and handsome—sold too many of his gewgaws at the house of the Don Vel S——, and, moreover, consumed more time than is generally necessary in these financial operations. In other words, the Don Vel S—— had the fortune; or misfortune, as it may be, to own a wife who had been the pride of her native city, in a physiological way, when the Don first saw and wooed her. Of course Vel S—— was as jealous as the old Estramadurian who had done the same thing before him, as Miguel Cervantes tells us; and this inexorable rumor as plainly intimated that Giacomo was no especial friend between man and wife. But whether Giacomo was proud and stern in his own virtue, or whether he possessed the requisite amount of impudence, he sold his trinkets as freely and prolonged his visits at the Senora's house just as he had always done; and notwithstanding his neighbors bid him beware of the Don, if his suspicions should happen to culminate to any possible conclusion, still the Corsican only shook his head, with perhaps a smile on his handsome features, and still sold his trinkets, and took his time in so doing.

At length, one morning, when his little son was tending store, a lady walked hastily in, and closed the door behind her, dropped a note before him and then passed as hastily out again. It was addressed to the Senor Giacomo Benventiglo, and bore the rampant griffin of the Vel S—— house on the seal. When the hawker of gewgaws returned, he found an invitation to the evening testulia, which was to be celebrated on the house-top, as is the usual custom. He hesitated, however, before accepting; yet when he remembered that the Senora was really the most lovely woman in all Cadix, he locked his doors, and taking his little boy by the hand, was soon in the presence of the company. To be sure their garments were coarse and well-worn; but there is certain bold, wild pencilling about the Corsican face, which needs none of the more delicate ornaments to render it pleasing to the general eye.—Why he should be an invited guest to a family gathering, hitherto conservative, he did not wait to conjecture, and so when the Don in person bade them sit, he did so, expecting nothing else than an immediate order for all the trinkets he possessed, with, perhaps, a few doubloons for his trouble.

The sequel, however, probably disappointed him.

The wife of Vel S—— commenced with a rather ornate account of the various rumors with which Cadiz had been lately rife, which she requested him to disprove in presence of her nearest kin, who were there assembled. With this Giacomo complied to the best of his ability. The lady looked with a smile towards her husband; but Vel S—— frowned. It was a dull writhing of the dark, husky brow—a feverish closing of the eyes beneath, but neither moved nor spoke.

"You see," said the Donna, gloomily, "you see, Signor Giacomo, that your trinkets and my charity have wrought my ruin!"

"How?" asked the Corsican. "Does your husband disbelieve us both? What further can I say or do?"

"Take your boy to the room beneath, and I will tell you."

Giacomo did as requested; and when he returned, the Donna had drawn a stool to the very eaves, and bade him seat himself upon it.

"My husband insists that I love you more than he," she says, with her dark eyes fixed on his own; "but I will satisfy him."

The boy in the room below was startled by the sound of a struggle and a quick stamping of feet. His mind drank in the instantaneous thought that his father was in peril, and with true Corsican spirit, he wrenched open the door and sped up to the roof.

He was in time to witness all. The Pythoness had fixed her fingers with a giant clutch on his father's throat, and hurled him headlong to a certain and fearful death upon the tesselated pavement of the court below.

It was truly a Spanish mode of regaining the love of a husband, who, throughout the entire struggle, which had lasted for some moments, had stood by, with folded arm, a witness of the deed which was to heal his wounded honor.

The young Giacomo fled, with the groans of the crushed and broken man still ringing in his ears.

One week from that night the Carnival was celebrated in Cadiz. Among the group of orges and harlequins thronging the broad Alamanda, a man in rich, melodramatic costume, stood pelting the balconied ladies with egg shells, filled with scented water. In the height of feverish excitement and pleasure, a shot is heard; the cabalcero falls, shot through the brain; with a smoking carbine in his tiny hands, a boy is seen stealing away towards the city gates.

They raise the fallen man and tear off the mask. It is the Don Vel S——. He is dead,

Through the following six-and-twenty years the same red hand appears to have slain no less than fourteen of the immediate kin of the Don; and the assassin, notwithstanding the efforts of the authorities, still eluded their vigilance. The Donna seems to have entertained fears for her own safety, and offered an almost fabulous reward for his detention and punishment. The authorities seem to have gone so far as to pronounce the civil ban of outlawry upon the murderer, giving all men full authority to slay him at sight; but until within six months since, their efforts seem to have been unavailing.

During all this period, the unhappy Donna gave way to paroxysms of fury, described as of the most fearful nature.—In her ravings, she called upon Heaven to avenge the death of her kindred, and to have heaped the most insolent of indignities upon the grave of the elder Giacomo. Early in the past year, she left her home in the night time, and all traces of her whereabouts were lost, until quite recently.

"One evening," to use the words of the translator, "a fisherman hurried into the city and besought that he might be attended by the watchmen (serenos) to a clump of trees beyond the limits, whence, as he represented, he had seen the missing lady struggling with an unknown man. He described this latter personage as of most terrible semblance, with unclipt hair and whiskers, and his clothing in rents and tatters. He gave as a reason for not interfering in the lady's behalf, that he was afraid lest his life might have been lost in an unarmed struggling with this demoniacal being.

"On repairing to the spot indicated, they found the traces of recent struggling, and bits of silk here and there still hanging to the brambles. And for sometime, although the sounds of groans and sobbings were plainly perceptible, they were unable to catch sigh of either. Making, however, a vigilant search, they found the unfortunate woman buried nearly to her mouth in a mass of loose earth and stones a mere skeleton of what she had been—and with her shoulders lacerated in a fearful manner by the thorny bushes through which she had been dragged to this living tomb. While conveying her to the city, they were attacked by the same being described by the peasant, who, with unexampled ferocity, had half reached the insensible form of the Donna, before he could be speared by the lances of the watchmen.

"The Donna has since died, and conjecture can only supply the key to this terrible mystery. The wholesale slaughter of the Vel S——family is laid at the door of the youth Giacomo; and that, too, with seeming probability, to those who understand the revengeful character of the Corsican. It is presumed that he in some manner, had enticed the lady from her home, and then forced her into the far interior, to endure starvations, and perhaps frequent torturous flagellations at his hand It is quite probable that she was overtaken by him in an attempt to escape his clutches—from the fact of being found so near the limits—and in a mad frenzy of hatred sought to doom her to the most terrible of deaths—that of being entombed alive."

We would not be considered as endorsing the truthfulness of the story, which seems to us to partake of the melo-dramatic element in no small quantity; nor, indeed, are we willing to say that such things might not have occurred. But, be that as it may, it certainly goes to give us an insight to the mysteries of the Corsican heart, when driven to that desperate pitch of frenzy which the history of the Vendetta shows to be so easily excited and so hard to allay.

An Adventure with Esquimaux Dogs.

The following extract from Dr. Hayes' "Arctic Boat Journey" will be read with interest at the present time, when the writer's proposed Polar expedition is one of the topics of the day:—"The dogs were fastened by their long traces, each team being tied to separate stakes. They were howling piteously. Having been exposed to all the fury of the storm, with no ability to run about, they had grown cold; and as their master told us, having had nothing to eat for thirty-six hours, they must have been savagely hungry. One of them had already eaten his trace; but we came out, fortunately, at the proper moment to prevent an attack upon the sledges. Leaving the hunters to look after their teams, I returned to the hut.—The blinding snow which battered my face made me insensible to everything except the idea of getting out of it; and thinking of no danger, I was in the act of stooping to enter the doorway, when a sudden noise behind me caused me to looked back and there, close at my heels, was a whole pack of thirteen hungry dogs, snarling and snapping, and showing their teeth, like a drove of ravenous wolves. It was fortunate that I had not got down on my knees, or they would have been upon my back. In fact, so impetuous was their attack, that one of them had already sprung when I faced around. I caught him on my arm and kicked him down the hill.—The others were for the moment intimidated, and at seeing the summary manner in which their leader had been dealt with, they were in the act of sneaking away, when they perceived that I was powerless to do them any harm, having nothing in my hand.

Again they assumed the offensive; they were all around me; an instant more and I should have been torn to pieces. I had faced death in several shapes before, but had never felt as then; my blood fairly curdled in my veins. Death down the red throats of a pack of wolfish dogs had something about it peculiarly unpleasant. Conscious of my weakness, they were preparing for a spring. I had not time even to halloo for help—to run would be the readiest means of bringing the wretches upon me. My eyes swept around the group and caught something lying half buried in the snow, about ten feet distant. Quick as a flash I sprang, as I never sprang before or since, over the back of a huge fellow who stood before; and the next instant I was whirling about me the lash of a long whip, cutting to right and left. The dogs retreated before my blows and the fury of my onset, and then sullenly sculled behind the rocks. The whip had clearly saved my life; there was nothing else within my reach; and it had been dropped there quite accidentally by Kalutunah as he went down to the sledges.

☞ "Mr. Timothy, you remind me of a barometer that is filled with nothing in the upper story." "Divine Almira," meekly replied the adorer, "in thanking you for that compliment, let remind you that you occupy my upper story entirely."

WHAT A PRINTER MUST BE.—Punch says: How nice this is being a printer!—A public servant, and withal a servant of the devil. A good natured fellow—must always smile—bow to every body—must be killing polite on all occasions, especially to the ladies—must always be a regular duck of a man, always witty, and dignified; must never do anything that would not accord with the strictest propriety of the most precise old maid, and must always be correct in everything he does; he is always expected to know the latest news, is styled "muggins" if he is not always posted; must please everybody, and is supposed never to need the one thing needful; must trust everybody, and is thought a great bore if he presents his bill; must be a ladder for all political aspirants to step into office, who very soon become independent, don't owe him anything, consider the printer at best a sorry dog, who cannot expect any better treatment than kicks and cuffs, and finally summing it up, he is expected to be a man without a model and without a shadow.

THE RELIGION OF PAYING DEBTS.—One of the religious papers has the following strong remarks on the subject.—They drive the nail up to the head and clinch it:

"Men may sophiscate as they please.—They can never make it right, and all the bankrupt laws in the universe cannot make it right, for them not to pay their debts. There is a sin in this neglect as clear and deserving of church discipline as in stealing or false swearing. He who violates his promise to pay, or withholds payment of a debt, when it is in his power to meet his engagement, ought to be made to feel that in the sight of all honest men he is a swindler. Religion may be a very comfortable cloak under which to hide; but if religion does not make a man deal justly, it is not worth having."

☞ Dr. Johnson made a large hole and a small one in the door of his room for his two cats.

"What have you two holes for?" asked a friend.

"Why, the large is for the large cat, and the small one is for the small cat."

"Why one hole would have done for both."

"Ah! would it? how is the big cat to get through the little hole?" asked the astute Doctor.

"She can't. But the little cat can get through the large hole"

"Egad! I never thought of that."

☞ A bright little girl of five years of age was recently standing by a window, busily examining a hair which she had just pulled out of her head. "What are you doing, my daughter?" asked her mother, whose curiosity was excited by her eager gaze. "I am looking for the number, mama," said the child. "The Bible says that the hairs of our head are numbered, and I want to see what the number is on this."

☞ An Irishman had been sick a long time and while in that State would occasionally cease breathing, and life be apparently extinct for some time, when he would come to again. On one of those occasions when he had just awakened from his sleep, his friend Patrick asked him,—"And how'll we know, Jimmy, when yer dead? yer after waking up every time.—"Bring me a glass o' whiskey, and say, here's till ye, Jemmy, and if I don't rise an' dhrink, then bury me."

☞ Baked puppy is the greatest delicacy of the Sandwich Islands, and Captain McClintock, in his just published voyage of the Fox, says: "At the Sandwich Islands I was invited to a feast, and had to feign disappointment as well as I could when told that puppy was so extremely scarce it could not be procured in time, therefore sucking pigs were substituted."

COLLOQUY ON THE MISSOURI.—"Boy, who do you belong to?" asked a gentleman, as he stepped on board of a steamer, of a "darkey" leaning on the guards.

"I did b'long to Massa William, sir, when I come aboard; but he is in de cabin playing poker wid de captain, and I don't know who I b'long to now!"

☞ Fools measure actions after they are done by the event; wise men beforehand, by the rules of reason and right.—The former look to the end; to judge of the act. Look to the act, and leave the end with God.

☞ Black-eyed ladies are most apt to be passionate and jealous. Blue-eyed, affectionate, soulful, truthful, and confiding. Gray-eyed, philosophical, literary, resolute and cold-hearted. Hazel-eyed, quick-tempered and fickle.

☞ Mary asked Charles, "What animal dropped from the clouds?" "The rain, dear," was the whispered reply.

☞ We ought not to judge a man by his great qualities, by the use he makes of them.

Importance of Railroads to the Pacific.

Hunt's Magazine devotes its columns to the discussion of the Pacific Railroad question with singular earnestness and ability, and advocates the construction of three roads. The facts and figures adduced by this excellent magazine show how small is the aid asked from the government when compared with the value of the results to flow from the three routes. The Northern, Central and Southern projects contemplate a cost of about $300,000,000 in the course of the next ten years, and of this amount Congress is asked to advance $150,000,000 on mortgage security of the road and its property. If we look back ten years, we find that in 1850, there were twenty millions of whites in the United States, who have expended six hundred millions of dollars in railroads since that time. For that money they have vast networks of Railroads in successful operation, lending their powerful aid in the development of new capital.—The large expenditure that has taken place has no doubt so far overdone local Railroad business that very few new roads will be again speedily undertaken. Although those in operation do not pay fully the interest on their cost, their action is not the less beneficial upon the growth of capital, which is now, in 1860, cheaper than it was in 1850, before that large expenditure took place.

From this point, then, with an abundance of railroads in full operation in '60 with thirty millions of inhabitants, instead of twenty; with capital now cheaper than ever before, and more rapidly accumulating than at any previous time; at the same time the gold regions of America and Australia were never more prolific, and new discoveries are adding millions of silver to the mixed mass of metallic currency, the next ten years will, from these sources, show an increase of at least fifty per cent. over the amounts received in the past ten years. Of what importance is a prospective expenditure of $300,000,000 for Pacific railroads spent in the next ten years? Regarded from this point of view, the amount is insignificant. Again, in the last ten years three and a half millions of persons have immigrated into the United States, a large proportion of them spreading upon the Western lands of which the Government in that period has sold sixty millions of acres and realized fifty millions of dollars cash. With the new spur given to Western progress by railroad expenditure, and to general wealth by the swelling volume of metallic currency, the Government will find an excess of means in its lands over the expenditure that it will be called upon to make for these roads.—In a financial point of view, the enterprize is unimportant, while its political and commercial importance cannot be overstated.

COUNTY CONVENTION.—The Peoples' County Committee met at Hollidaysburg on Tuesday last, and passed a resolution fixing the 12th day of June next, as the time for holding the County Convention to nominate candidates to be voted for at the coming fall election. The Saturday previous (9th of June,) was fixed upon as the time of holding the delegate elections, at which time each election district will elect two delegates to said Convention.

DEATH OF W. C. A. LAWRENCE.—This gentleman, who has occupied the position of Speaker of the House of Representatives during the last two sessions, died at his residence in Harrisburg, on Saturday night last. Although only 28 years of age, he had been three times elected to represent Dauphin county in the lower House of the Legislature.

☞ As we stated last week, M. H. Jolly, Esq., of the Tyrone Star, retired from the editorial chair of that paper, with his issue of the 21st inst. He does not state who is to be his successor.

ARREST OF HEENAN.—The steamship America, which arrived at Halifax on Saturday last, brings the intelligence that Heenan was arrested at Derby, on the morning of Good Friday, by the Hertford authorities, and was to be brought before the magistrate on the day the America sailed.

The steamship Australia, which arrived at Portland on Monday, states that Heenan was charged before the magistrate at Derby with the intention of engaging in a prize fight, and thereby causing a breach of the peace. His counsel contended that Heenan had never broken the peace in England, and had no intention of doing so. The Court finally took Heenan's own recognizance for fifty pounds, with two sureties for 25 pounds each. It was stated by the Court that Heenan could not be further interfered with anywhere, unless he broke the peace. The sureties were promptly signed, and Heenan and friends left for London.

Bell's Life is quite indignant at the capture, attributing it to Heenan and his companions going to a place where it was almost certain he would be arrested. A second edition, however, exonerates Heenan from all blame. It was considered certain that the fight would come off on the 16th, the day originally fixed.

CHARLESTON CONVENTION.—The Democratic National Convention assembled at Charleston, S. C., on Monday last. Up to the time we go to press we have nothing which would indicate who is likely to receive the nomination for President.—Douglas stock, which was up at first, came down considerably when all the delegates arrived. The most prominent candidates appear to be Breckenridge and Guthrie, yet it is not likely that either of them will be nominated. P. S. The latest news by telegraph is that there is a strong probability of Douglas being nominated.

☞ A bill has passed both branches of the State Legislature of New York, essentially modifying the death penalty. Executions hereafter are only to be for treason, arson, and murder in the first degree. In cases of death sentence, the execution shall not take place until one year after sentence has been passed, nor until the issue of the Governor's warrant.

EXCURSION TICKETS.—The Pittsburgh Ft. Wayne and Chicago Railroad Company announce that excursion tickets will be issued over that road, to the Chicago Convention which meets on the 16th of May. The tickets will be good from May 12th to June 1st., both inclusive. Fare for the round trip, to Chicago and return, $14.

☞ The law office of W. R. Boyers, Esq., has been removed to Adeline street, between Annie and Julia streets, East Altoona. W. R. Boyers and Thaddeus Banks, Esqs., have entered into an arrangement for the practice of law in this and adjoining counties. All business entrusted to them will be promptly attended to.

HOW TO COOK A SHAD.—The local reporter of the Philadelphia North American gives the following as the proper method of cooking shad. Let some of our housewives try it:—"With iron they should never come in contact. A piece of planed plank, two feet long and one foot wide, with a skewer to impale the fish upon it, are all the culinary implements required. A fire of glowing coals, in front of which the shad is placed, gives you a shad cooked as it should be." Right, neighbor, right. "Along shore," where we get our shad "alive and kicking," we practice this method of cooking them, when we can raise a wood fire. Those who have never eaten a "planked shad" know little of the luxury of fish properly prepared for the table.

☞ A man known by the title of "Devil John Thompson" was recently killed in Lumber city, Clearfield county, by a man named Hawkenberry. A difficulty had for some time existed between the parties, and Hawkenberry had threatened to shoot the other. On meeting, Thompson told him to carry his intentions into effect, which Hawkenberry immediately did—shooting him through the side and killing him almost instantly. The murderer was immediately apprehended, and committed to jail.

☞ A few evenings since a lady in Lexington, Mich., was playing on a melodeon, when a mouse emerged from the corner of the room, ran up tremblingly to the instrument, then ascended the dress of the performer into her lap, and finally nestled under her basque. The little animal was in such a high state of ecstacy that it was utterly powerless, and had the performer continued a moment longer, it would have expired.

☞ A Mrs. St. Chen, of Mount Carroll, Illinois, was shot and killed the other day by her little son, a boy about ten years of age. The boy leveled his gun at his mother in sport, not knowing it was loaded, when to his infinite consternation it went off, killing her almost instantly.

☞ Cucumbers are selling at 25 cts. apiece in the Savannah market.

A RESERVOIR OF ICE WATER.—Prof. Merriam, 'the sage of Brooklyn Heights,' has seriously submitted a proposition to the city Council of New York, to roof the Croton Reservoir in a peculiar manner and have five tons of ice thrown into it daily, for the purpose of supplying the excitable gentlemen with cool water through the dog days, without the necessity of liquidating an ice bill. Some plagairist, however, has stolen his idea and proposes, in addition to the ice, to add the following ingredients, to be renewed daily: Ten boxes Sicily lemons; ten barrels Stuart's best pulverized sugar; ten quarter casks old Otard brandy; the lemons to be sliced and squeezed; a little arrack or old Jamaica may be added without risk of injury to the flavor. If the experiment succeeds it is proposed to keep a little "hot stuff" all next winter in the reservoir, the ice of course to be dispensed with, and the quantity of brandy doubled.

THE MOUNT VERNON FUND.—The ladies of the Mount Vernon Association of the Union, have issued a circular, in which they give a statement of all the contributions received from counties in this State. The total sum is $34,868 21.—$3,981 93 were received from miscellaneous sources. The whole of the purchase money of the Mount Vernon estate has been raised, and all but $6,000 paid over, so that the Association can at any time enter into possession and occupy the premises. But it is deemed necessary to raise a fund, the interest of which will be sufficient for annual repairs and the care of the house and ground. The ladies now appeal to those who have hitherto refrained from subscribing, "to come forward to assist in placing the house and tomb of Washington, now the property of the citizens of the United States, in such order and keeping as is manifestly due to his memory and to themselves."

FATAL MISTAKE.—In Wilmington, N. C., on Saturday evening last, Joseph S. Canady, a young mechanic, who had just purchased a dirk, while jesting with a companion, playfully struck his own breast with the knife, crying, "Lay on, Macduff!" His friend told him that he had stabbed himself. He stated that he had not, but upon looking at his breast, he perceived the blood, when he uttered,—"Good Lord!" and, falling backwards in the door, died almost immediately. It is supposed that when he struck himself with the dagger, he intended to do so with the handle, as he had often done before, repeating dramatic quotations, and "suiting the action to the word."

☞ Mrs. Mary Chesnut, mother of the Senator from South Carolina, has been appointed Vice Regent of the Mount Vernon Association of that State. She is eighty-five years of age, and had a personal acquaintance with General Washington. In the spring of 1789 Washington visited Trenton, and was received with the most enthusiastic demonstrations by the people, especially by the ladies. A "triumphal arch" was erected on the bridge over the Assanpink creek, at the entrance of which the young girls strewed flowers before him and sung a song of welcome. One of those girls is now Mrs. Chesnut.

☞ During the heavy rain of Thursday last, a house on Deep Run, Belmont county, Ohio, was carried away, and the owner, Mr. Ephraim Henry, his wife, and a grown up daughter, were drowned. One little boy was swept away, but found; afterwards, alive, in a drift pile. This was one mile back from the Ohio river. About the same time, on the Little Fork of Short Creek, near Warren, two school houses, one of them lately erected and completed were swept away entirely by the descending waters.

DESTRUCTIVE TORNADO IN ILLINOIS. A tornado passed over Carlenville, Ill., on Monday last, destroying and blowing down houses, barns, trees, fences, etc. The roof of the Lutheran church was blown distance, and the wall much injured. The roof of a dwelling was carried nearly a mile and a half. Children were also picked up and carried a considerable distance by the wind. Cattle were killed in every direction. A man named Lowe was killed by lightning, and many persons wounded.

SINGULAR.—The Memphis Avalanche says that the body of a young lady was recently disinterred after a burial of five years, and that, when the metallic case was opened, not only were the body and hair in an excellent state of perservation, but a full blown japonicia, placed between the fingers of the corpse, was still blooming.

ALARMING STATE OF AFFAIRS IN NAPLES.—The following is an extract from a letter of a Philadelphian now in Naples to his friends in this city:—

"Naples, March 6th, 1860.—Things are in a wretched condition here. A revolution was anticipated on Saturday last."

"On Sunday morning, the proprietor of our Hotel was taken out of his bed and carried off to prison, and to-day he has been banished from his home and family. He is a man of influence and wealth, but choose to express a love for liberty. Last week, thirty persons of positions were exiled. To what a low condition must a people have sunk, when they find themselves unable to rise and overthrow such a galling tyranny!"

"But I even fear to write on this subject—we are surrounded everywhere by spies."

☞ The Vicksburg Sun, of Saturday, March 31st, says that a negro man belonging to Mr. Woodfolk, on Deer Creek, was recently burned at the stake for the murder of a negro woman. All the negroes on that and the adjoining plantations witnessed the burning. "His fate was decreed by a council of highly respectable gentlemen."

AMUSEMENTS.

Messrs. Editors:—Our town is growing more and more each day like every day, and in the course of its progress we find that Amusements of various kinds are being introduced for the entertainment of our citizens, both in town, and at the several very interesting places of resort in the region round about. In all cities it is customary for the various institutions of amusement to be noticed through the Press, either in critique, or in a commendatory manner, according to their respective merits; so that they may be duly appreciated by the people for whose benefit they are intended, and I think it is but proper that the amusements that are becoming customary in our little city, should receive some attention in this way also; in order that they may have that consideration which is due to every thing that influence the character and welfare of community, as well as of individuals. Last week your columns contained a graphic account of the Artistic performances of Monsieur Dunham; who taught his pupils a lesson that will perhaps benefit others, as well as themselves.

More recently a very novel amusette came off, entitled "The grand faux pas gallopade," which is certainly deserving of some consideration; in as much as it has given rise to a question of general interest.

The characteristic phrases of the performance are briefly described by the Poet, who no doubt, refers to something very similar, when he speaks of

"The incongruous scene of Christians
Reeling thro' the mazes of the giddy dance."

The following article from a secular newspaper, is respectfully submitted, as it relates particularly to the question involved

METHIL.

For the Brownsville Times.

Is it right for Church Members to Dance?

This is a question which is often propounded, not only to the minister, as he mingles with his flock; but also to the more private layman.—and various indeed, have been the opinions of the casual reader of the bible, and the superficial in ethics on this subject; while those of deep toned piety and ardent zeal toward God and his honor, have been a unit. It is worthy of note here, that the christian experience of all ages, stands in direct opposition to dancing, as practiced in our day, (viz: as an amusement). Dancing has been known from time immemorial, and was very common among the Jews, to whom pertained the oracles of God. But there were always two distinct classes, who engaged in it, namely, the righteous and the wicked. The righteous engaged in the devotional dance, to which so many allusions are made in the Bible, which was an expression of joy, and religious gratitude: The wicked, in dreadful debauch and licentiousness. It was customary for conquerers, after a signal victory, to be honored by the women, who, in token of their heart felt joy, came to meet them, singing and dancing, as was the case when David returned from the slaughter of the Philistines and Jephthath from the destruction of the children of Ammon. Dancing was also an expression of domestic joy, and confidence in God, hence, the sweet singer of Israel attunes his harp, "thou hast turned for me my mourning into dancing; thou hast put off my sackcloth and girded me with gladness." Certainly no one would be so obtuse as to adduce the dancing as practiced by the ancient people of God, as a representation of dancing now; as then it was a token of religious joy, and gratitude; now of sensual pleasure; then of devotion to God; now of devotion to the world: then God was in all their thoughts; now they desire not a knowledge of his ways. The mingling of males and females in the dances, which is "all the go" now, was unknown to the Jews; unless as has been well observed by an eminent writer—a precedent may be found in the scene of idolatrous confusion and madness, when the children of Israel bowed themselves before the image of a calf. This sensual kind of dancing has always been in great vogue among the heathen nations of the earth, and many allusions are made to it in the classics which we have not space nor time to notice.—Pious Job, gives us a disquisition on this, which we ought to mark. "wherefore, says he, do the wicked live and become old, yea, are mighty in power? They send forth their little ones like a flock; their children dance. They take the timbrel and harp and rejoice at the sound of the organ. They spend their days in wealth and in a moment go down to the grave. Therefore, they say unto God, depart from us; for we desire not a knowledge of thy ways. What is the Almighty, that we should serve him, and what profit aboul we have if we pray unto him?—This is the sentiments of the large class that have danced for sensual gratification. The devotional dance has ceased long since, having been peculiar to the old dispensation; but the worldly dance still exists; and those who engage in it, do not want church members to meddle with their enjoyments. Since dancing now is emphatically a worldly enjoyment, and since, from the very nature of the case the blessing of God is not upon it. Ought christians to dance, or those who have made a profession of their faith in Christ? The obvious answer is, no.—"For you hath he quickened who were dead in trespasses and sins, wherein, in times past ye worked according to the course of this world.—"Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world the love of the Father is not in him. Be not conformed to this world; but be ye transformed by the renewing of your minds, that you may prove what is that good, acceptible and perfect will of God." How dwelleth the love of God in you, dear reader, if you be numbered with the followers of the Lord Jesus, and love this worldly amusement so well. Does thy soul prosper when thou art in the giddy dance? I trow not: For what fellowship hath righteousness with unrighteousness, and what communion hath light with darkness, and what concord hath Christ with Belial? "Wherefore, come out from among them and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing." But say you, I don't see how dancing can harm me, for the act is not wrong itself. True, the act in itself is not wrong, and many acts in themselves are not wrong which often tend to that which is wrong in itself. Did not the dancing of a vain girl ultimate in the murder of John the Baptist? which was a sin per se? Does not the voluptuous dancing of the present day, often result in the destruction of the virtue of those who engage in it, and so strenuously uphold it? which is a sin in itself; for God himself cannot make wrong right. How can the child of God rexel in that, which belongs exclusively to the world, and which is so often attended with inebriety, and loss of character without any compunctions of conscience?—Many who are out of the church, and who dance, too, say that church members ought not to dance, because it is incompatible with the principles of their holy religion. It leads to sin; it is worldly pleasure, and belongs not to the church; but to the world, and "if any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him." Church members should not dance, because they injure the cause of Christ thereby.—How, say you, will I injure the cause of Christ by dancing? Because you associate with all kind of characters, and in that association steep yourself in sensual pleasure, which leads them to suspect that christianity is a mere farce, and you become a stumbling block in their way, and they also, will speak evil of the church, saying, we are as good out of the church as in it; for the temper and disposition of church members are the same as our own. Well may they censure the plan which teaches, for it belongs to the "old stories" and not to the news; to the world, not the church; to Satan, not to God. Fellow professor, traveling to the bar of God; the gate to the heavenly Jerusalem is the strait gate we do dance through—the way is too narrow for us to veer about in—the delightsome land is too far off for us to reach with the world on one shoulder and the cross on the other; it will be as much as we can do to bear the cross as good soldiers, and leave the world and its amusements that "drown souls in perdition" behind. We would better rest secure in the bosom of the church, than to have no rest at all in everlasting burnings; better abstain from dancing now, than to dance forever on the red hot coals of the bottomless pit.

NIMROD.

CONTENTS OF A SHARK'S STOMACH.—A shark was captured in our harbor on Saturday last, by Mr. Wm. Elden. On opening the fish the hand of the unfortunate Isaac Wylly, (who was drowned outside the bar on the 11th inst.) together with a goat's head, having horns seven inches long, were discovered in the stomach. The hand was identified by a brother of the deceased, in consequence of a portion of the shirt being attached to it. —Nassau Guardian.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

☞ CHRONIC RHEUMATISM.—We submit the following to sufferers without comment:

Messrs. Benj. Page, jr., & Co., Pittsburg, Pa.: I have been afflicted with the Chronic Rheumatism, unable to walk for six years, and have used all the external and internal remedies, both from Doctors and Quacks; also all the patent medicines recommended for that disease; also spent six months at the Hot Springs in Arkansas, all to no purpose. As the old saying is that drowning men catch at straws, I was recommended to try your Bitters, and must confess that it is the only remedy which has given me relief. I am now on my third bottle. I am so much better, although not able to walk, I was able to attend church last Sunday, for the first time in six years. My general health is also much improved. My appetite never was better. My object in writing you (as my recourses are nearly exhausted by my long confinement) is to know if I can obtain it for less than one dollar per bottle, which price I have to pay for it here. I consider Boerhave's Holland Bitters the most valuable remedy for my complaint that was ever offered to the public.

Yours, truly, HENRY POWELL.

☞ Mrs. Clute, of No. 272 Second street, believing her child, about three years old, to be troubled with worms, purchased one bottle of DR. M'LANE'S CELEBRATED VERMIFUGE, prepared by Fleming Bros., Pittsburgh, Pa., and gave it two tea-spoonsful, which had the effect of causing the child to discharge a large number of worms. The child is now enjoying good health. We would advise all parents who may suspect their children to be troubled with worms to lose no time, but immediately purchase and administer Dr. M'Lane's Celebrated Vermifuge. It will cure. The money will be refunded in all cases where it does not give satisfaction.

☞ Purchasers will be careful to ask for DR. M'LANE'S CELEBRATED VERMIFUGE, manufactured by FLEMING BROS., of PITTSBURGH, PA. All other Vermifuges in comparison are worthless. CROUP.

Children are often seized very suddenly with this disease, which, if not quickly relieved, proves fatal. It generally attacks children in the night, after having been much exposed to damp, cold winds through the day. Damp houses, wet feet, thin shoes, wet clothes, or anything that obstructs perspiration, may occasion Croup. Mothers! your children are liable to be taken with this dread complaint at a time when you least expect it; but it is not always a doctor can be called or a remedy found, and for this reason we would advise you, and without a moment's delay, to buy a bottle of Dr. EATON'S INFANTILE CORDIAL. It will cure every case of Croup, if taken in time; and also all complaints attending teething: Convulsions, Coughs, Colds, etc. It is sold by all respectable druggists. Messrs. CHURCH & DUPONT, New York, are the proprietors, and also sole agents for "Dr. BRONSON'S BLOOD FOOD," which for Consumptive and Chronic diseases is a sure remedy. Do not be put off with any other articles. Write to CHURCH & DUPONT, New York, if you cannot get them in your own town. ☞ See advertisement. For sale by A. Roush.

☞ The great drawback to persons emigrating to the extreme south and western country, is the fear they have of the Fever and Ague—the most direful of all diseases.—Every day we hear of persons attacked by this disease and made helpless in a short time, without any means of affording relief. In view of the great demand for a remedy, Dr. HOSTETTER has presented his celebrated "Bitters," whose curative powers for all diseases of the stomach have been universally acknowledged. The "Bitters," prepared after a long experience and deep study, have received the encomiums of the most eminent physicians, as well as all classes, from every part of our country. To those who doubt their many virtues, all we can say is to try them, and judge for yourselves respectively.

Sold by all druggists and dealers generally, everywhere.

☞ "OH THAT THE SKIN of an innocent sheep should be made into parchment, and written on to the undoing of a many," quoth Shakespeare. He might also have deplored the ruining of men's forms by the uncouth manner in which some ungracious tailors butcher up the cloth made from the wool grown by those same harmless sheep. To see the perfection of the art of working up cloth wisely and well, and so as to set off to the best advantage the forms of its wearers, call at the Brown Stone Clothing Hall of Rockhill & Wilson, Nos. 603 and 605 Chestnut St. (above Sixth, Phila. and examine their stock of garments for gentlemens and youths.

REASON AND COMMON SENSE.

Our readers may remember we have on several occasions spoken in very eulogistic terms of a preparation which Dr. SETH S. HANCE, of 108 Baltimore street, Baltimore, Md. has discovered for the cure of Epileptic Fits. Now, in doing so, we have been actuated by the very best motives, viz—the alleviation of human suffering. From circumstances which have lately come to our knowledge, we fear there is a certain class of persons who are not disposed to try this remedy in a common sense manner. We allude to the fact of selecting a particular case in a town where perhaps there are six or eight cases, and trying it on one case. Now, perhaps the case selected might be the only one of the whole number that it would not cure. This is neither doing themselves nor the medicine justice. If a dozen persons were stricken down with cholera in one town or neighborhood, would they all send for a physician, or would only one employ him, and wait and see if he cured the first patient? That plan of procedure would be most absurd. So in the case of Dr. Hance's remedy, every one who has Fits should try it for a reasonable length of time. It will not cure in a day or week; nothing worth doing can be accomplished at once. What is easily done is as easily undone.—The growth of time is enduring. From the most respectable testimony we have examined, we feel assured that by a proper perseverance in this remedy, nine cases of Epilepsy out of ten may be cured. The Pills are sent by mail free of postage to any part of the world. Price—one box, $1; two, $5; twelve, $24. You will find the address as above.

A FAMILY NECESSITY.

The following statement speaks for itself:—(Extract.)—"In lifting the kettle from the fire it caught and scalded my hands and person severely—one hand almost to a crisp. It was an awful sight. * * * The Mustang Liniment appeared to extract the pain almost immediately. It healed rapidly and left no scar of account. CHARLES FOSTER, 420 Broad street, Philadelphia." It is a truly wonderful article. It will cure any case of swelling, Burns Stiff Joints, Eruptions or Rheumatism. For Horses, it should never be dispensed with. One Dollar's worth of Mustang has saved a valuable horse. It cures Galds, Sprains, Ringbone, Spavin and Founders. Beware of imitations. Sold in all parts of the habitable globe. BARNES & PARKS,
Proprietors, New York.

TOOTHACHE.

This disease can be cured by Dr. Keyser's Toothache Remedy, prepared by him in Pittsburg, Pa., which is put up in bottles and sold at 25 cents each. It is an excellent medicine, when diluted, for spongy and tender gums, and is worth ten times its price to all who need it. Sold here by G. W. Kessler, Druggist.

LOCAL ITEMS.

STOCKHOLDERS' MEETING.—Agreeably to previous notice, a meeting of the Stockholders of the Altoona Fair View Cemetery Association was held in the Lecture room of the Presbyterian Church, on Friday evening last. Vice President, Geo. R. Everson, in the chair.

The Secretary, G. W. Patton, made a statement of the affairs of the Association, showing that the Trustees had made the last payment on the Cemetery grounds, and that the Association was now free from debt, with the exception of so much as could be liquidated by the payment of the last assessment of $1,50 on each lot holder, a considerable portion of which had not yet been paid in.

The Secretary was instructed to give notice to all those who have not yet paid the last instalment of $1,50, and urge the immediate payment thereof.

An election for officers was held with the following result:—

President—Rev. A. B. Clark.
Vice Presidents—E. A. Beck, M. Clabaugh.
Secretary—Geo. W. Patton.
Treasurer—C. C. Mason.
Trustees—E. M. Jones, Geo. R. Everson, Daniel Price, A. A. Smyth, E. B. McCrum, J. S. Bellman, F. Shillinger, Geo. Hawkesworth.

After the adjournment of the Association, the Trustees elected met and organized.

A committee was appointed to wait upon Mr. P. Dempsey and negotiate for six or eight feet of ground, lying along the main road, for the purpose of laying down a plank walk thereon, making a continuous walk from the borough limits to the Cemetery grounds. It was also proposed to change the entrance to the grounds from the place where it now is, to the corner next to the town, but this was not finally acted upon.

A resolution was passed calling for a meeting of the Trustees once in each month, and after a little consultation, the evening of the 2d Thursday of each month was fixed upon as the time.

RELIC OF OLDEN TIMES.—A few days ago, our old friend, Joe Metzgar, of Sinking Valley, presented us with an old bayonet, which had been plowed up in the neighborood of the old fort, or block-house, erected in that valley, during the Indian war. From its appearance, it must have been in the ground many years, and was doubtless dropped from the musket of some of those who inhabited the house referred to at "the time that tried men's souls." Whether it ever pierced the flesh of a redskin, we can not say, but imagination can picture many frightful combats in which it may have done good service, and it may be that the hand that wielded it was stilled in death on the very spot where it was picked up. Who can tell the scenes through which it may or may not have passed!—the latter no doubt preponderating. But it is a relic of the "olden times," and we shall keep it until somebody carries it off, or the proprietor of a museum of curiosities gives us a good price for it.

P. S It can be seen at this office.

☞ A doctor once returned a coat to his tailor, because it did not exactly suit. The tailor afterwards seeing the doctor at a funeral of one of his patients, said to him, "Ah, doctor, you're a happy man," "Why so," inquired the doctor, "Because" said the tailor, "you never have any of your bad work returned upon your hands." Our friend, Thos. Elway, in the "Brant House," was not the tailor referred to above, as he always gives such good fits that his work is not returned; and we would here add that he has just received his stock of spring and summer goods, consisting of everything in the line of gents clothing, together with an excellent assortment of goods for boys clothing. He works at reasonable prices,—give him a call.

AN ACKNOWLEDGMENT.—Messrs. Editors.—Through your paper would I express my gratitude to the friends whose token of regard was left at my house on Saturday last. Such gifts are prized not only for their intrinsic value, but yet more as the evidence of kindness and fraternal feelings. May Heaven reward the donors.

A. B. CLARK.

Ah! what a world is this poor world of ours,
Where trade and traffic fill up all the hours,
Where love of mammon sets all men agog,
And each one tries to prove the greater hog!
What good is life, if all we have and are
Is swallowed up in money-making care,
If ne'er a time of relaxation comes
To give to pleasure and to happy homes.
What silly mortals, nay, what senseless fools
Are we to make ourselves the witless tools
Of mammons god, lifes only aim and end
To hoard up wealth for thankless heirs to spend.
No, all I ask is a small competence,
A moderate share in worldly treasures, whence
My simplest wants and luxuries a few
May be supplied. Alas, this will not do,
My sphere's too limited and customers too few,
I want a more active life and can mostly accomplish this by being kept constantly employed in retailing my present lot of very excellent miscellaneous books, together with school books, stationery, music, and a very select lot of violins and other musical instruments. Please call at the New Book Store, opposite the Tribune Office.

PEN AND SCISSORS.

☞ Slightly winterish—the weather yesterday.

☞ All the rage—Shaker bonnets. They are more convenient and serviceable than ornamental.

☞ Gov. Seward's barn and carriage house, in Auburn, N. Y., was burnt on Tuesday evening, with two horses.

☞ Louis Napoleon's army consists at present of 2,800,000 men of whom 1,500,000 compose the National Guard—all old soldiers.

☞ A bill has been introduced into the Assembly of Alabama, for transporting all negroes convicted of capital offence to Massachusetts.

☞ It is stated that 20,000 Swedes and Norwegians are preparing to embark in this coming summer for the United States.

☞ Grapes are displayed in the windows of Broadway fruiteries, with the notice attached, $3 per pound. It is needless to say that they are sour grapes.

☞ There is a young woman living in Alstead, N. H., who weighs over 700 lbs., and it takes about 30 yards of calico for a dress.

☞ Still increasing—the passenger travel on the Penn'a R. R. The Express Train west, on Wednesday morning, had seven cars full of passengers.

☞ "Awful" Gardiner, it is said, has reclaimed by his temperance coffee-rooms in New York seven hundred inebriates, and got himself $1,200 in debt in consequence.

☞ Messrs. Keys & Walsh desire us to state that all orders left for them at the Dean Store of A. Roush, will receive prompt attention.

☞ The friends of Sabbath Schools should remember the County Convention to be held in Hollidaysburg on Monday next.

☞ Court is now in session at Hollidaysburg, but we have nothing to report up to this time. The trial of Goesser will likely come on to-day.

☞ The suit between the Mac and Wear Company and a number of boys in this place, has been settled without the aid of the Court.

☞ Mr. Daniel Gilbert has purchased the interest of Tobias Sellers in the property formerly owned by H. A. Sellers, in this place.

☞ The attention of the Young Folks is directed to an article headed "Amusement" to be found in another column. It may do them good.

☞ A child was born lately in Washington township, Jefferson county, which weighed at its birth 17 pounds. A big baby, that, or else a big story.

Heavy Damages.—Miss Mary E. Cloyes sued the Boston and Worcester railroad company for $20,000 damages for personal injuries on the road, and the jury on Friday last awarded her $10,000.

☞ The Westminster (Md.) Sentinel, of last week, says that the grain crops in that vicinity present a fine appearance, and that it has been shown stalks of wheat which already measure two feet.

☞ We are pleased to learn that our old friend, Mr. Sanford M. Corsell, has been appointed foreman carpenter of the Western Division, Pennsylvania Rail Road, from this place to Pittsburgh. Mr. C. is in every way qualified for the position.

☞ We have noticed the welcome countenance of Capt. R. R. Franks in this place, every other evening, for a week past. He is filling the place of Mr. Bartpy, on the Mail Train, who has been ill, but is now convalescent. Capt. F. is a conductor with whom it is a pleasure to travel.

☞ Of the amount of paper consumed by a daily journal, the outsiders have a very faint idea. The paper annually employed in the publication of the New York Times, if cut into inch strips, would pass around the earth's waist about nineteen times; and it would not require quite four years to paper every inch of Manhattan Island.

☞ A beautiful, but silly girl, from 16 to 18 years of age, daughter of a widow of Rockford, Ill., advertised for a husband, for the romance of the thing, and was caught and seduced by a Pike's Peak gambler, named Wm. Moore. She started in company with him for Pike's Peak, and has been found murdered on the way at Ottumwa, Iowa.

☞ We learn from the Whig that the store of Deihl & Co., of Freedom, this county, was broken open on Wednesday night week, and the money drawer rifled of between $40 and $50, and a lot of ready-made clothing, cassimeres, lawns, &c., were also taken. The whole loss is estimated at about $150.

☞ Anambo, an African prince, visiting England, received so many attentions from a celebrated belle of London, that, in a moment of tenderness, he could not refrain from laying his hands upon his heart and exclaiming: "Oh! madam, if heaven had only made you a negress, you would have been irresistible!"

☞ Our ever good humored merchant, Joe Hileman, has just returned from the city with a stock of ladies dress goods which our "better half" pronounces the handsomest she has ever seen in the town, (but she hasn't seen all,) and thinks his prices reasonable. Joe has also a good stock of groceries, hardware, queensware, etc., etc., to which he invites inspection. See his advertisement.

☞ On and after Monday next, the Hollidaysburg Branch Train will run as an accommodation train between Hollidaysburg and Spruce Creek, leaving Hollidaysburg at 10.30 A. M., and arriving at Spruce Creek at 12.20 P. M. Returning—leave Spruce Creek at 12.50 P. M., and arrive at Hollidaysburg at 2.50 P. M. This will be a great accommodation to the local travel between the places named, for which Mr. Lewis will have the thanks of those whose business will require them to use the accommodation.

☞ Susquehanna Lumber Trade.—Quite a fleet of rafts arrived at Columbia, Pa., last week. The Spy, of that town, says:—Very little business has yet been done here in lumber. Reported heavy stocks of timber at Williamsport and Lock Haven Mills warn our dealers of competition during the summer, and they are accordingly cautious in their purchases. Prices have not yet become settled, but there is every indication that the rates will be below last year's.

☞ Our merchants generally have received their spring and summer goods, and are prepared to wait upon their customers in the most accommodating manner. We wish here to notice particularly the stock of our young friend, R. A. O. Kerr, which we consider equal to that of any house in the town. He has selected his stock with great care and it embraces everything usually kept in stores in this place. For the ladies especially he has an excellent assortment of dress goods which he offers at the lowest prices. His stock of queensware can not be excelled. Give him a call.

☞ We find the following complimentary notice of our friend across the way, Herman Smith, who is now a candidate for the County Superintendency, in a late number of the Berks county Press:

"We learn that Mr. Herman Smith, late of Berks, now residing in Altoona, Blair county, is a candidate for the office of County Superintendent in that county. While a resident of this county, he taught a private school at Leesport, where he gave the best satisfaction as a teacher—He also took a warm and active part in the Common School affairs of Berks county,—having lectured upon various occasions before Teachers' Institutes and Conventions. If the School Directors of Blair county desire an efficient and useful man in the affairs of their schools, they should give Mr. Smith their undivided support.

ALTOONA ACADEMY.—The third term of this institution will re-open on the first Monday of May. Terms, &c., as formerly.

RELIGIOUS.—Rev. C. L. Ehrenfeld (Pastor elect) will preach in the Lutheran Church, of this place, next Sabbath morning and evening.

BLAIR COUNTY TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION.—There will be a regular meeting of this Association held in Hollidaysburg, commencing at 10 A. M., on Monday, the 7th day of May next. The session is to continue for two days. Teachers are requested to be present at the appointed hour. By Order of the Ex. Com.

Notice.—The subscribers to the Capital Stock of the Altoona Gas and Water Company are hereby notified that if the full amount of their subscription is not paid on or before the 16th day of May next, Section 8th of the Act of Assembly for the incorporation of Gas and Water Companies will be strictly enforced:—

"SECTION 8. That if the stockholder, whether an original subscriber or assignee, after twenty day's notice of the time and place appointed for the payment of any instalment or proportion of the capital stock, shall neglect to pay the same at the place appointed, for the space of thirty days after the time appointed for the payment thereof, such stockholder shall, in addition to the instalment so called for, pay at the rate of one per centum per month for every defaut of such payment, and if the same and additional penalty shall become equal to the sum before paid on account of such share, the same may be forfeited by and to the said company, and may be sold by them at public sale for such price as may be obtained therefor, or in default of payment of any stockholders of such instalments as aforesaid for the space of sixty days after the time appointed as aforesaid, the president and managers may at their election cause suit to be brought in the same manner as debts of like amount are now recoverable, for the recovery of the same, together with the penalties aforesaid."

BERHAVE'S
HOLLAND BITTERS

THE CELEBRATED HOLLAND REMEDY FOR DYSPEPSIA,
DISEASE OF THE KIDNEYS,
LIVER COMPLAINT,
WEAKNESS OF ANY KIND,
FEVER AND AGUE,
And the various affections consequent upon a disordered
STOMACH OR LIVER,
Such as Indigestion, Acidity of the Stomach, Colicky Pains, Heartburn, Loss of Appetite, Despondency, Costiveness, Blind and Bleeding Piles, in all Nervous Blenmatic and Neuralgic Affections, it has in numerous instances proved highly beneficial, and in others effected a decided cure.

This is a purely vegetable compound, put up on strictly scientific principles after the manner of the celebrated Holland Professor Berhave. It supersedes all spirituous products in intoxication here, the demand commencing with those of the Fatherland scattered over the face of this mighty country, many of whom brought with them and handed down the tradition of its value. It is now offered to the American public, knowing that its truly wonderful medicinal virtues must be acknowledged.

It is particularly recommended to those persons whose constitutions may have been impaired by the continuous use of ardent spirits, or other forms of dissipation. Generally instantaneous in effect, it finds its way directly to the seat of life, thrilling and quickening every nerve, raising up the drooping spirit, and, in fact, infusing new health and vigor in the system.

NOTICE.—Whoever expects to find this a beverage will be disappointed; but to the sick, weak and low spirited, it will prove a grateful aromatic cordial, possessed of singular remedial properties.

READ CAREFULLY!

The Genuine highly concentrated Berhave's Holland Bitters is put up in half-pint bottles only, and retailed at ONE DOLLAR per bottle, or six bottles for FIVE DOLLARS. The great demand for this truly celebrated Medicine has induced many imitations, which the public should guard against purchasing.

☞ Beware of Imposition. See that our name is on the label of every bottle you buy.

Sold by Druggists generally. It can be forwarded by Express to most places.

HOSTETTER'S
STOMACH BITTERS.

It is a fact that, at some period, every member of the human family is subject to disease or disturbance of the bodily functions; but, with the aid of a good tonic and the exercise of plain common sense, they may be able so to regulate the system as to secure permanent health. In order to accomplish this desired object, the true course to pursue is certainly that which will produce a natural state of things at the least hazard of vital strength and life. For this purpose, Dr. Hostetter has introduced to this country a preparation bearing his name, which is not a new medicine, but one that has been tried for years, giving satisfaction to all who have used it. The Bitters operate powerfully upon the stomach, bowels, and liver, restoring them to a healthy and vigorous action, and thus, by the simple process of strengthening nature, enable the system to triumph over disease.

For the cure of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Nausea, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, or any Bilious Complaints, arising from a morbid inaction of the Stomach or Bowels, producing Cramps, Dysentery, Colic, Cholera Morbus, &c., these Bitters have no equal.

Diarrhœa, dysentery or flux, so generally contracted by new settlers, and caused principally by the change of water and diet, will be speedily regulated by a brief use of this preparation. Dyspepsia, a disease which is probably more prevalent, in all its various forms, than any other, and the cause of which may always be attributed to derangements of the digestive organs, can be cured without fail by using HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, as per directions on the bottle. For this disease every physician will recommend Bitters of some kind; then why not use an article known to be infallible? All nations have their Bitters, as a preventive of disease and strengthener of the system in general; and among them all there is not to be found a more healthy people than the Germans, from whom this preparation emanated, based upon scientific experiments which have tended to prove the value of this great preparation in the scale of medical science.

Fever and Ague.—This trying and provoking disease, which fixes its relentless grasp on the body of man, reducing him to a mere shadow in a short time, and rendering him physically and mentally useless, can be driven from the body by the use of HOSTETTER'S RENOWNED BITTERS. Further, none of the above-stated diseases can be contracted, even in exposed situations, if the Bitters are used as per directions. And as they neither create nausea nor offend the palate, and render unnecessary any change of diet or interruption of ordinary pursuits, but promote sound sleep and healthy digestion, the complaint is removed as speedily as is consistent with the production of a thorough and permanent cure.

For Persons in Advanced Years, who are suffering from an enfeebled constitution and infirm body, these Bitters are invaluable as a restorative of strength and vigor, and need only be tried to be appreciated. And to a mother while nursing these Bitters are indispensable, especially where the mother's nourishment is inadequate to the demands of the child, consequently her strength must yield, and here it is where a good tonic, such as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, is needed to impart temporary strength and vigor to the system. Ladies should by all means try this remedy for all cases of debility, and, before so doing, should ask their physician, who, if he is acquainted with the virtue of the Bitters, will recommend their use in all cases of weakness.

CAUTION.—We caution the public against using any of the many imitations or counterfeits, but ask for Hostetter's Celebrated Stomach Bitters, and see that each bottle has the words "Dr. J. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters" blown on the side of the bottle, and stamped on the metallic cap covering the cork, and observe that our autograph signature is on the label.

☞ Prepared and sold by HOSTETTER & SMITH, Pittsburgh, Pa., and sold by all druggists, grocers, and dealers generally throughout the United States, Canada, South America, and Germany.

☞ Sold by G W Kessler and A Roush, Altoona; G A Jacobs, J K Patton and W G Murray, Hollidaysburg; and S Berlin Tyrone. [Aug 25, 1859-1y

EXCHANGE HOTEL.—THE SUBSCRIBER would respectfully inform the public that he has recently refitted the above Hotel, and is now prepared to accommodate his friends and patrons in a comfortable manner, and he will spare no pains in making it an agreeable home for all sojourners. His Table will always be luxuriously supplied from the markets of the country and cities, and his Bar filled with liquors of choice brands. His charges are as reasonable as those of any other Hotel in the place, and he feels satisfied they can not be complained of by those who favor him with their custom. Expecting to receive a share of public patronage, and fully intending to deserve it, he throws open his house to the public and invites a trial.

I have just received a stock of No. 1 French Brandy, for medicinal purposes.

Also a large stock of excellent Wines, for medicinal purposes, together with a lot of the best old Rye Whiskey to be found in the country.

LOOK OUT FOR YOUR HEAD!
A poet gives the following advice to young men on going to parties:

In going to parties, just mind what your at;
Beware of your head and take care of your HAT;
Least you find that a favorite son of your mother,
Has an ache in the one and a brick in the other.

MARRIAGE GUIDE—BEING A private instructor for married persons or those about to be married both male and female, in everything concerning the physiology and relations of our system, and the production or prevention offspring, including all the new discoveries never before given in the English language, by WM. YOUNG, M. D. This is really a valuable and interesting work. It is written in plain language for the general reader, and is illustrated with numerous Engravings. All young or married people, or those contemplating marriage, and having the least impediment to married life, should read this book. It discloses secrets that every one should be acquainted with; still it is a book that must be locked up, and not lie about the house. It will be sent to any one on the receipt of twenty-five cents in specie or in postage stamps. Address DR. WM. YOUNG, No. 416 Spruce Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

☞ AFFLICTED AND UNFORTUNATE—No matter what may be your disease, before you place yourself under the care of any one of the notorious quacks—native or foreign—who advertise in this or any other paper, get a copy of either of Dr. Young's Books, and read it carefully. It will be the means of saving you many a dollar, your health and possibly your life.

DR. YOUNG can be consulted on any of the diseases described in his publications, at his Office, No. 416 Spruce St. above Fourth. [Apr.12,'60.-1yeow.

CONSUMPTION AND ASTHMA CURED.

DR. H. JAMES,

Discovered, while in the West Indies, a certain cure for Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds, and General Debility. The remedy was discovered by him when his only child, a daughter, was given up to die. His child was cured and is now alive and well. Desirous of benefiting his fellow mortals, he will send to those who wish it, the recipe containing full directions for making and successfully using this remedy, free, on receipt of their names with stamp for return postage. When received, take it to G. W. Kessler, druggist, Altoona. There is not a single symptom of Consumption which it does not at once take hold of and dissipate. Night sweats, peevishness, irritation of the nerves, failure of memory, difficult expectoration, sharp pains in the lungs, sore throat, chilly sensations, nausea at the stomach, inaction of the bowels, wasting away of the muscles. Address O. P. BROWN & CO., 32 and 34 John St., New York.

DR. O. PHELPS BROWN'S
ACACIAN BALSAM
FOR THE PERMANENT
CURE OF CONSUMPTION, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA, COUGHS, COLDS, GENERAL DEBILITY, &C.

This remedy is offered as affording a means of speedy cure for the large number that die annually in our land of that fell scourge, Consumption, to which, unfortunately, so many predisposing causes exist. Youth and age are alike subject to its ravages.

EVERY PERSON

can name one or more of his acquaintances who is subject to some form of lung or throat complaint, which, if not attended to in season, inevitably consigns the sufferer to a premature grave. To such, help is at hand if they will but avail themselves of it, and hope,—the harbinger of brighter days,—may be awakened without fear of chilling disappointment. Dr. O. PHELPS BROWN'S ACACIAN BALSAM does just what is claimed for it, and may be relied upon by the sick as being the most successful in curing lung and throat disorders, of any remedy known at the present day. The many phases assumed by Consumption justifies the apprehension of those who have reason to fear its approach, either from constitutional or hereditary tendency.

While the discoverer of this remedy does not believe that people should be constantly dosing themselves with medicines

there are many cases where disease is too long allowed to remain unchecked in the system; and a slight cough, regarded at first as simply an annoyance, ceases only with the life of the patient. An impure state of the blood, through debilitation of the lungs, fills the system with morbid humors, and pulsation becomes feeble or accelerated to a feverish intensity—the heart, liver, and kidneys, separately performing functions of vital necessity to our well-being, are impeded in their regular action—the digestive organs falter in their task, and refuse to perform the process of separating the nutritious elements from food, and the whole mental being is well-nigh ready to sink under the burden of life. The patient so afflicted, accounts his case a complication of disorders, and often refuses to resort to medication, from his thorough disbelief in any prospect of cure. To such of the ACACIAN BALSAM, as thoroughly worthy the confidence of all. Every symptom of Consumption is surely and permanently eradicated by its use. Its effects are none other but strengthening and renovating to the entire system. Bronchitis, Asthma, Coughs, Colds, and General Debility, are effectually cured by its use. Night Sweats, Loss of Flesh, and Wasting away of the Muscles, Loss of Appetite, Soreness of the Throat, Chest, and Lungs, Liver Complaint, Palpitation of the Heart, Difficulty of Breathing—all these affections disappear almost incredibly short time after using Dr. O. Phelps Brown's Acacian Balsam.

It nourishes and strengthens the patient who is too much reduced to partake of ordinary food. It heals all internal sores, tubercles and inflammation. It strengthens, braces, and revitalizes the brain, and is without a rival as a tonic, supplying electricity or magnetic force to every part of the enfeebled and prostrate body. It needs no lengthy trial to convince any that the ACACIA BALSAM is truly the greatest remedy of the day, as its beneficial qualities are fully apparent in eight-and-forty hours after trial.

Let the invalid, then, no longer delay, but make the trial, and the result will surely be of the most gratifying character.

The ACACIAN BALSAM is prepared with the greatest care, and the best materials. No pains or expense are spared to make it what it is—the best known remedy of the age. It may be taken by either sex, of all ages, and at all seasons, with perfect safety; and it is done the less powerful in conquering those diseases which sap the foundation and destroy the lives of so many in our midst. Every family should have it, and regard it as a household treasure.

MOTHERS

In presenting you with DR. EATON'S INFANTILE CORDIAL, we desire to state its superiority over every nostrum that nurse or quack has heretofore offered you.

First. It is the preparation of a regular physician, who is well qualified from much experience in infantile complaints to prescribe for them. Secondly—It is entirely free from paregoric or opiate of any kind, and consequently relieves by removing the suffering of your child, instead of deadening its sensibilities. Thirdly—It is put up with great care, as a comparison of it with any other article for infantile complaints will show; the very roots from which it is distilled being dug from the forests un er the direction of Dr. Eaton, many of them by his own hands. Fourthly—It is perfectly harmless and cannot injure the most delicate infant, and is a certain cure and relief in all the following cases, which is its chief merit over every other preparation, viz:

FOR ALL COMPLAINTS ATTEDING TEETHING; such as DYSENTERY, COLIC, &c., also, for softening the gums and relieving pain. For regulating the Bowels it is unequalled. For Cold in the Head it is a sure relief. For the CROUP, the most fatal and trying of all diseases, it can be relied on with perfect confidence; and being a powerful anti spasmodic in all cases of convulsions or fits, we earnestly recommend you to lose no time in procuring it. Lastly—It costs so much more than other preparations of the kind that we cannot afford such long advertisements as can those whose whole expense is their advertising; for the same reason it commends itself as the most reliable to all mothers. In all cases, the directions wrapped around each bottle must be strictly followed. Price, 25 cents per bottle.

BLOOD FOOD

Dr. Bronson, having been so far reduced by consumption as to be considered beyond all hope of recovery by the most eminent of the medical profession, and also by himself—a regular physician of twenty years practice—as a last resort conceived the idea of ANALYZING THE BLOOD, and applying the subject of Physiology to the more immediate connection and effect of the state of the Blood upon the health and system. The result has been the production of this "BLOOD FOOD," from the use of which, Dr. Bronson was restored to perfect health. Within six months after its introduction, over two thousand consumptives were effectually cured by it. If you have any complaints of a consumptive tendency, Cough, Cold, Headache, Palpitation of the Heart, Loss of Appetite or pain in the side, lose no time in procuring a bottle of the "BLOOD FOOD." If you are suffering from Nervous Debility, or your Sleep is Broken and disturbed, if your Spirits are Depressed, or your Organs relaxed, you will find this an unfailing remedy, by commencing, within ten drops. If your Liver is torpid or diseased in any manner whatever, one or two bottles will be sure to invigorate and bring it into lively and healthy action. In the most inveterate cases of Dyspepsia, the patient can here find the most efficient and grateful relief. A benefit is always experienced after taking only one bottle. In Male or Female Complaints or Weakness, the sufferer, after trying other remedies in vain, may rest assured, that a certain cure will result from the use of two or three bottles. The "BLOOD FOOD" is effectual in all cases of Eruptions, Salt Rheum, Scrofulas and other like complaints.—Pale and emaciated children and adults are immediately benefitted by its use. It gives strength to the body and color and beauty to the skin. Physicians of all schools are using it with wonderful success. For full directions, see circulars. Price $1 per bottle. Sold by

JACOB SNYDER, TAILOR,
The Hero of One Hundred Fits per Month!

I would respectfully set forth my claim to public attention, as a Fashionable Tailor as follows:

Because I keep an excellent assortment of Cloths, Cassimeres, Vestings and Trimmings, which, when examined, always please.

Because my work is made up in a manner that takes down the country and gives all my customers a city appearance.

Because I am not inferior as a Cutter to the best to be found anywhere.

Because long experience in my business gives me entire control over it and I am not dependant upon any one to lift me out of the suds.

Because I am still on the sunny side of forty, and therefore my taste as a Cutter and workman unimpaired.

Call on me, in the corner room of the "Brant House." Give me a trial and you will go away pleased.
